EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

1. An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with David Pieper on 11/14/05.

The application has been amended as follows:

2. (Currently Amended) A compressed-gas gun-firing mechanism which comprises a barrel having a distal portion and a proximal portion:

a cylindrical bolt in said proximal portion, said bolt having a given outer radius and a gas discharge channel extending from a radial intake port in a proximal section of the bolt to an axial discharge port at a distal end of the bolt; said channel defining an axial zone and an elbow between said intake port and said axial zone; whereby when said bolt is axially translated by a trigger mechanism said intake port lines up with a gas delivery port in the proximal portion of the barrel allowing compressed gas to enter said channel and apply recoiling pressure against said elbow, while, at the same time, applying firing pressure to a projectile located in said distal portion of the gun barrel; and,

a sleeve slidably inserted between said bolt and barrel and having a leading portion and a trailing portion; said sleeve further having a radial aperture in said trailing portion;

Art Unit: 3641

resiliently compressible means between said bolt and said sleeve for biasing said leading portion ahead of said bolt and for keeping said intake port in line with said aperture; said barrel further having a radial projectile-admitting first port in said distal portion and a radial gas-admitting second port in said proximal portion; and means for translating said bolt and sleeve from a recoiled position wherein said leading portion obstructs said gas delivery port, to a firing position wherein said gas delivery port, aperture, and intake port are aligned up to allow expansion of gas through said channel and into said barrel; whereby a projectile partially inserted into said distal portion of the barrel causes said sleeve to resiliently slide over said barrel and said leading portion to close said intake port, thus preventing expansion of gas into said bolt and barrel.

2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The prior art does not anticipate or make obvious a compressed gas firing gun having a bolt, a barrel and a sleeve inserted between the bolt and barrel and having a radial aperture in a trailing portion, whereby a projectile partially inserted into a distal portion of the barrel causes the sleeve to resiliently slide over the barrel to prevent expansion of gas into the bolt and barrel thereby effectively preventing chopping of paintballs.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
